Object-Oriented Design 2: Establishing Classes and Objects

The requirements document is extremely important, as it:
- Defines the problem
- Elaborates on each problem
- Lists out expectations
- Helps set up for creating a design

Nouns are objects themselves. Verbs are the different activities/behaviors of these objects. Using nouns and verbs helps define which objects do specific actions and how they interact with each other.